1. The primary (urban) co-operative banks have been functioning under the supervision and control of Reserve Bank for banking related functions in terms of the powers vested in it under Banking Regulation Act, 1949 (As applicable to co-operative societies) and the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934.

2.2 However, the administrative and managerial functions, elections and appointments of members and these banks come under the purview of Reserve Bank of India. The Reserve Bank should ensure that the respective state co-operative societies act and multi state co-operative societies act. The various co-operative societies acts, the by-laws framed there under and model by-laws spell out the duties, functions and obligations of directors of these banks.

1.3 Since the directors are elected from amongst the members (except co-opted and nominated directors the persons who are not eligible for admission even as members cannot act as promoters or become directors of the bank. In particular, persons engaged in money lending, financing and investment activities, either in individual capacity or as proprietor/partner/employee/director of any concern as also those convicted of any criminal offences including moral turpitude are ineligible in terms of clause b (iii) of the model by-law no.9 and/or the provisions contained in the co-operative societies act (concerned). 1.5 The directors of primary (urban) co-operative banks must be knowledgeable and persons of high integrity. They must function in a cohesive manner and provide proper leadership for the smooth and efficient management of the affairs of the bank. This calls for a certain degree of professionalism in the BODs.

1.6 To ensure professionalism in the Board, the banks should have atleast two directors with suitable banking experience (at middle/senior management level) or with relevant professional qualification in the fields of law, accountancy or finance. The banks should also have a suitable provision in their bye-laws to ensure this. However, these instructions would not be insisted upon in case of Salary Earners Banks in view of the nature of their membership.
